The Franciscan Missionary Sisters of the Infant Jesus have been present in almost all the regions of Italy since 1879, the year of the foundation of their Institute. From 1927, as missionaries "to the people", they serve in Peru, Bolivia, Colombia, Argentina, Paraguay, United States, Libya, Philippines, Albania, Cameroon... In these last years they have intensified their commitment for a new evangelization with greater attention "to the needs of the universal Church", and, in particular, "to the poor and defenseless little ones."

"...There are children deeply hurt by the violence of adults: sexual abuse, forced prostitution, involvement in the sale and use of drugs; small children forced to work or enlist in the military; innocent children scarred for life due to the breaking up of families; little ones victimized by the terrible marketing of people and organs..."

Humanity cannot close its eyes in the face of a drama so frightening."

(John Paul II)

"Now is the time for a new 'creativity' in charity, not only ensuring that help is effective but also by 'getting close' to those who suffer, so that the hand that helps is seen not as a humiliating handout but as a sharing between brothers and sisters."

(John Paul II)

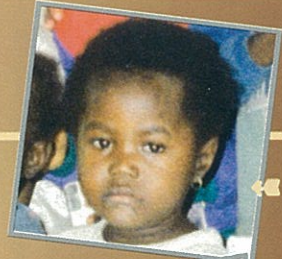

"The charity of works ensures an unmistakable efficacy to the charity of words."

(NMI,50)

"...consecrated for the good of the poor... for the relief of human suffering, no one to be left out..."

"...charity must be the only motive of each of your actions"

(Barbara Micarelli, from her letters)

"...the child hope of humanity"

his/her rights

... to life

... to education

... to a good upbringing

... to live in joy

... to be loved

Adoption from a distance is an 'open window looking out upon the world', a concrete action that "destroys indifference and the rhetoric of idle talk"... and opens the heart to a selfless love a steady and continual contribution to children "robbed of their childhood and adolescence" ...so that they can grow well in their own environment

a gesture of freely sharing with whomever is in need... without taking them away from that which they love an effective response to an awareness of the inalienable rights of others as an aid to building a better future...

give a smile, love, joy to whomever is a 'victim of misery and ignorance'...

sow hope and trust for the future of families and society.
